

2017-18 SORC ISLANDS IN THE STREAM SERIES SCORING

The midway point of the 2017-18 SORC Islands in the Stream Series finds Todd Stuart's Swan 56 White Rhino holding a one point lead over Jim Bill, Eamonn deLisser, and Horst Baier's Farr 395 Senara. Both teams won their respective classes in the season-opening Nassau Cup Ocean Race, with White Rhino winning the IRC Class in the Wirth M. Munroe Palm Beach Race, and Senara finishing second in PHRF A in the Palm Beach Race, after winning the PHRF Fleet in the Nassau Cup. Michael D'Amelio's JV52 Denali is two points behind Senara, with Mike Kayusa's Farr 30 Raven, with consistent third-place finishes in Nassau and Palm Beach.

A handful of tough competitors have competitive scores in one of the two races, and are in position to jump up the leader board with a good finish in the Lauderdale to Key West Race on January 10, 2018. Don Lasky's J30 Paparazzi and Anson Mulder's Oyster 575 24 Heures won their respective PHRF classes in the Palm Beach Race, and are poised to jump into the mix in Key West, a race in which both skippers and teams have excelled in the past. Former Key West Race winners Christian Schaumlöffel and his Hobie 33 Myrage and Steve and Heidi Benjamin, with their TP52 Spookie have a second place finish in the Nassau Cup Race and Palm Beach Race, respectively, and can be chasing the rumbling Rhino with a good score in Key West.

Stay tuned for the rest of the SORC Islands in the Stream Series, with the Ft. Lauderdale to Key West Race on January 10, and the Finale in the Miami to Havana Race on February 14. Watch this page for Series updates, and the SORC Sailing Facebook page for information on all SORC races.
